The weather seems just fine. No rain, about 8-9 degrees and maybe some sun. Perfect weather for a nice run. The weather is just typical belgian. Thats cloudy, wett and muddy. Seems like it was also not much raining in the past, so paths will not be that muddy. In the morning it will be quite cold, about 2-3 degrees, but after the first kilometres it will be nice. Will test some new equipment for that run and will do some writing. I will try to make some pictures. Will also test some new equipments.

I'll try to make some pictures. So now lets try to take a good sleep and stand up early to be good prepared.
